

ABSTRACT

Software that causes browser windows and other windows to instantly disappear from a computer screen upon activation of a function activator. Preferably, when a user activates the function activator, the software also causes any open browser applications to shut down as well. The function activator may comprise an icon displayed on the computer screen or a physical switch coupled to the software. Moreover, the software may be incorporated into an Internet Service Provider's browser software or be installed separately from the installation of the browser on the individual user's computer.

10

15

#743411 v1 - 11700.4 Patent Application

20